The Leadership Conference

My Way

This is the third annual BQF - Leadership Trust conference.

The speakers will present their own stories and give insights to the secrets of their success and essential leadership skills.

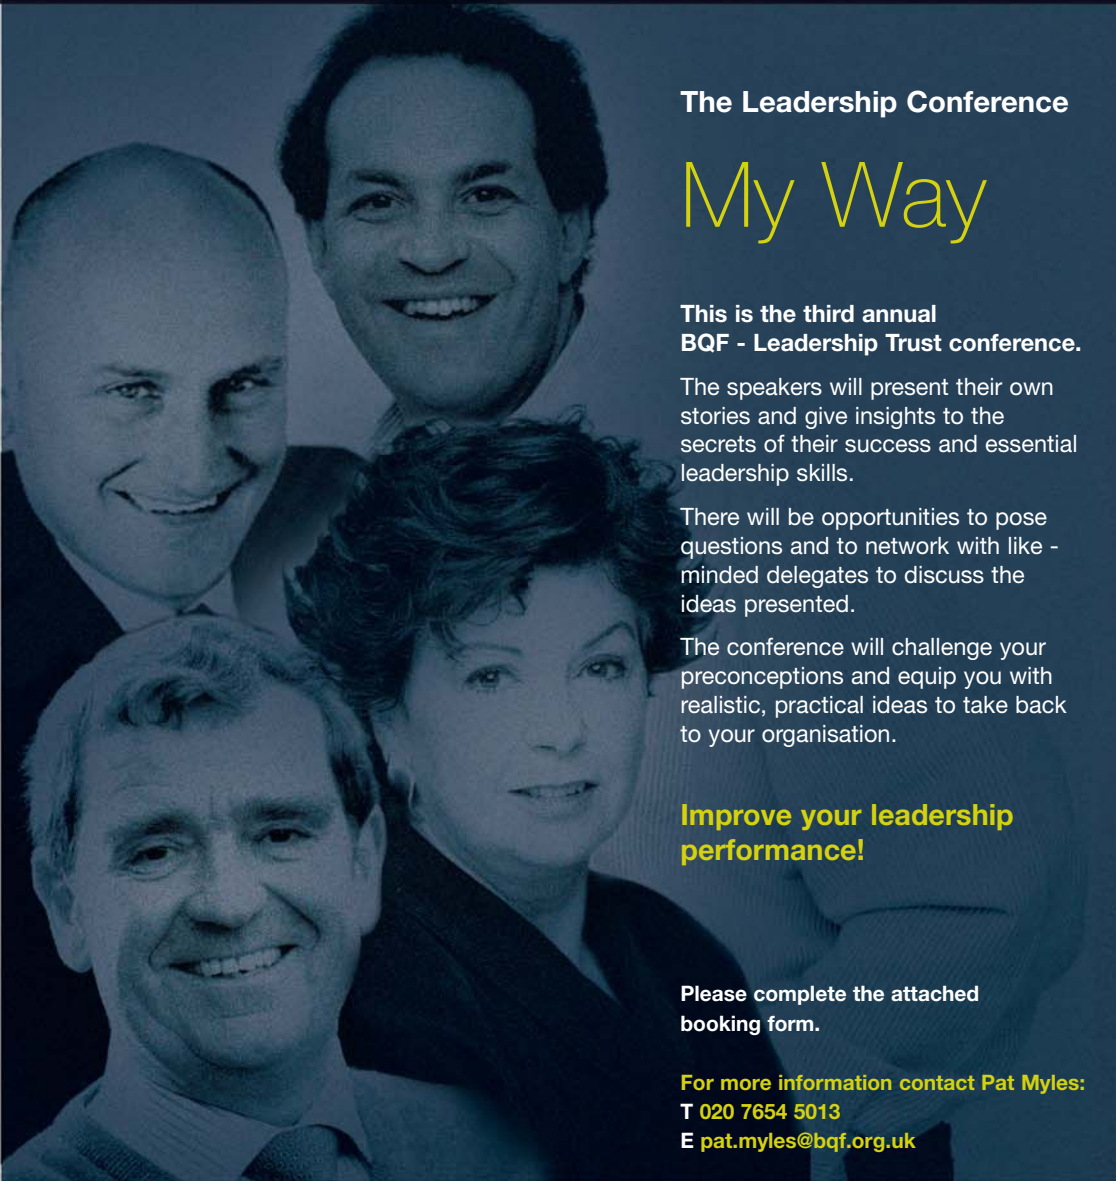

There will be opportunities to pose questions and to network with like-minded delegates to discuss the ideas presented.

The conference will challenge your preconceptions and equip you with realistic, practical ideas to take back to your organisation.

Improve your leadership performance!

Please complete the attached booking form.

09.45 Welcome

10.00 Tim Cross CBE

Recently retired from 36 years in the British Army, Tim Cross is a logistics expert with deployments in Northern Ireland, Cyprus, the Gulf and the Balkans culminating in the position of Director General Defence Supply Chain. In 1999, he was awarded the CBE for his work in Macedonia, co-ordinating NATO, UNHCR, British, French, German and Italian troops and non-governmental organisations from other nations.

As Director General of the Defence Supply Chain, he led the mixed Military/Industry Implementation Team in a Defence-wide End-to-End Logistic Review, was a Board Member of the multi-billion pound Defence Logistic Organisation and was deployed to Washington, Kuwait and Baghdad as the International Deputy in the US led Office of Reconstruction and Humanitarian Affairs, later re-titled the Coalition Provisional Authority.

He is a trustee of The Leadership Trust Foundation, Director of an international aid organisation, Visiting Professor at Nottingham and Cranfield Universities and the current Army Adviser to the House of Commons Defence Committee.

When it comes to effective leadership, Tim's in accord with The Leadership Trust's philosophy that "leadership is using our personal power to win the hearts and minds of people to achieve a common purpose."

11.00 Coffee

11.30 Susan Scott-Parker OBE

Susan Scott-Parker is the Founding Chief Executive of the Employers' Forum on Disability (EFD), the world's first employers' organisation established by business to mobilise business behind the economic and social inclusion of disabled people.

Susan pioneered the world's first leadership programme for people with disabilities, in partnership with the Coverdale organisation, and is now working to establish the Wildfire Foundation to support leadership development and exchange programmes for high capacity disabled people around the world.

She has an international reputation as a persuasive and authoritative advocate for the advantages for global business linked to realising the potential of the 15-20% of the world's population who have a disability. She and her president John Varley (CEO Barclays global) are building a unique leadership team – the President's Group – from across the Gold Group membership whose task is to position disability as a business as well as a societal priority while helping EFD to have ever greater impact. Members include CEO and board level representatives from Merrill Lynch, PWC, B&Q, BUPA, CISCO SYSTEMS, Land Securities, Lehman Brothers, LloydsTSB and Goldman Sachs.

Under Susan's leadership EFD has become the world's leading publishing house on disability as it affects business. She has written and edited numerous publications and led the project which resulted in 'Disability Confident', the definitive e-learning package.

12.30 Lunch

13.45 Tim Peach

Tim Peach is Managing Director of Taylor Woodrow Construction. In this role, Tim is responsible for ensuring that Taylor Woodrow Construction continues to represent the best in industry and UK business.

His premise is simple, that TWC should be the company of choice for their customers, suppliers and employees. Translating this into action has resulted in several award winning and industry leading initiatives, including a highly successful Graduate Programme.

The programme is characteristic of TWC's investment in people and the future - sponsoring over a hundred students each year and providing an intensive management training syllabus post-graduation.

Understanding how to add value to customers and suppliers has resulted in developing new income streams, for example with the launch of a highly profitable and fast growing Facilities Management division, which is now a major provider to blue chip companies.

Tim is the sole UK construction contracting representative on the European Technology Platform. He sits on the CITB Construction Skills board and Finance Committee.

14.45 Tea

15.15 Nigel Risner

Nigel Risner is a respected author, television presenter and a prolific speaker. He speaks with authority: his own life having veered perilously away from comfortable norms at times. He has learned - the hard way - that positive results can come from negative experiences, and that we often learn best from situations which are unfamiliar and even uncomfortable.

As one of the youngest CEO's of a financial services company in the City of London, Nigel knows business as well as he knows life and more importantly he knows what it takes to lead a successful business! He has the ability to translate - with electrifying effect - that hands on experience into a coherent, compelling and exciting philosophy, which has made him one of Europe's leading key note speakers and a powerful professional one-to-one coach to some of the world's leading business executives.

Using lessons from his own very successful career as a business leader, Nigel believes managers maintain the status quo while leaders take their organisations to new heights.

How does an organisation get the leadership it needs to thrive? The bad news is, few people are natural born leaders. That's why so many organisations suffer from lack of leadership. The good news: Leadership can be taught! Nigel explains the skills all leaders must develop to impact their people and organisations. But it doesn't stop there. Nigel goes on to provide his practical, realistic blueprint for helping individuals develop the skills they need to take their performance to unbelievable new heights.
